ABOUT THE POLICY DRAFTING HACKATHON

The inaugural edition of the Centre of Excellence in Law & Technology is on the horizon, unveiling its maiden Policy Drafting Competition. In an era where the rapacious gathering of digital data looms as a peril to our personal privacy, eroding trust within an ever-pervasive digital realm, the necessity of a policy dedicated to preserving digital privacy becomes paramount. Self-driving cars are no longer a futuristic concept; they are the present and the future.

This competition aims to address the legal challenges and opportunities presented by autonomous vehicles. As these innovative technologies become increasingly integrated into our daily lives, it is imperative to establish comprehensive and forward-thinking policies that prioritize safety, privacy, and ethical considerations. This competition serves as an invaluable opportunity for individuals to delve into the intricacies of policy drafting, refining their prowess in this realm. Participants will delve into the entire process of crafting policy, from identifying pertinent issues to striking an equilibrium between lofty ideals and pragmatic realities. The art of policy drafting elevates one's ability to scrutinize contemporary legal quandaries, proffer solutions, and broaden one's acumen, analytical faculties, and comprehension of the law. This event is a forum where the imperative concern of privacy within the contemporary autonomous vehicle landscape is confronted head-on.

STRUCTURE OF THE COMPETITION

The event will be divided into two stages which would include a policy drafting stage and defending the policy stage.

A screening process by a distinguished panel will take place immediately after the first round wherein 10 teams will proceed to the final stage.

The event will include participants working towards 'hacking' a problem or aiming at solutions for problem in a policy revolving around self-driving cars. It will offer participants the opportunity to indulge in areas known and unknown.
